Lost OpportuniT

MBTA fares cost young riders their jobs ● Youth group wants $10 monthly passes ● Plan would mean $27 million revenue loss for MBTA

NICOLAUS CZARNECKI/METRO

Survey says

An OpportuniT survey of 2,400 youth riders shows:

48%
Were late for school because they didn't have money for the T

20%
Were absent from school for the same reason

29%
Missed work or came in late because they couldn't afford the fare

Spend more than $20 per month on MBTA services

A collaboration of city youth groups is urging the MBTA to launch a Youth Pass program that offers $10 unrestricted monthly fares for anyone between the ages of 12 and 21.

A non-student Charlie Card LinkPass currently costs $59 for unlimited ridership each month.

But MBTA General Manager Richard Davey said the plan would cost up to $27 million in lost revenue.

"I was frank with the youth. ... There are obligations to think about. Right now, we are an underresourced agency," he said.

For several years, Youth Way on the MBTA collected data and conducted OpportuniT surveys revealing that numerous young riders who rely on public transportation can't afford the T, resulting in missed classes and job loss.

Tyree Ware, 19, a member of the group, said he takes several buses and trains to get to work in order to provide financial support for his family. Without a discount, dishing out dollars daily to use the T puts a dent in his wallet.

"Youth Pass would benefit young adults out there who need an affordable way to get around," said Ware.

Last Friday, Davey met with Youth Way to hear their pitch on the pass.

At the meeting, Davey said a pilot program for the pass could begin if it did not result in a loss of revenue.

"What they proposed is 100 to 500 passes to be [monitored] over a few months," said Davey. "That would give [the T] a flavor for how often passes would be used and how much revenue would be lost."

Davey said public transportation is a "lifeline for many young individuals," but the MBTA doesn't have future plans for reducing youth prices.

T facts

- Boston's bus fare is the lowest in the country
- Boston hasn't raised its transit fares in five years
- The T offers several discount options for students around the Boston area, including student passes and free ridership for anyone under 11.

Source: MBTA

About the group

Youth Way on the MBTA is a youth-led campaign partnership between the Boston-area Youth Organizing Project, Roxbury Environmental Empowerment Project and the T Riders Union.

In 2009, after Youth Way surveyed 1,600 young riders, Secretary of Transportation James Aloisi Jr. agreed to extend the cutoff time for the MBTA student monthly pass and Student Charlie Card from 8 p.m. to 11p.m.

Commuter rail interruptions

BOSTON. Services on several commuter rail lines will be impacted through September while Amtrak completes the Northeast Corridor Rail Tie Replacement Project.

The three-month project began Saturday and will affect the Fairmount, Franklin, Needham and Providence/Stoughton lines.

Work will extend from Back Bay Station to Forest Hills.

The work requires one track to be taken out of service entirely, "greatly diminishing" the line's capacity and reducing service flexibility, according to the MBTA and MBCR. METRO

'T spitter' turns herself in BOSTON. A 27-year old Dorchester woman accused of spitting in a bus driver's face turned herself in after surveillance photos of her were released to the public this week.

On May 27, the woman allegedly spit on a Route 28 operator while in Dorchester, in front of her two children, because the driver stopped the bus too quickly.

The woman, whose identity wasn't released by transit authorities, will be arraigned in Dorchester District Court. METRO

Movement afoot for bicycle safety

Groups to testify on behalf of 'vulnerable road user' bill ◗ New law would hike penalties for hitting someone

Bicycling advocates are poised to testify before legislators today who will hold a hearing on a "vulnerable road users" bill.

The bill, one of about 50 to be heard today during a joint transportation committee hearing at the State House, would increase the penalties for drivers who injure or kill a "vulnerable" person. A vulnerable person is defined in the bill as a pedestrian or someone on a "bicycle, handcycle, tricycle, skateboard, roller/in-line skates or a non-motorized scooter."

The penalty would increase from up to $5,000 to up to $10,000 and would require drivers to attend traffic safety courses and perform community service.

Advocates said the bill is needed as biking and riding is becoming more and more encouraged in cities like Boston, which is working to install more bike lanes and make other cycling improvements.

"The idea here is basically to raise the awareness that the consequences of a crash between a car and a bicyclist and a pedestrian can be far more severe than a typical crash between motorists," said David Watson, the executive director of the group MassBike.

Other states have passed laws after advocates said drivers are cited or receive minor monetary fines for crashes in which a bicyclist is severely injured or killed.

MICHAEL NAUGHTON
michael.naughton@metro.us

How it compares

- States like Delaware and Oregon have already passed vulnerable user laws.
- Delaware gives courts the ability to impose additional penalties like mandatory traffic safety courses or community service. In Oregon, a fee of up to $12,500 can be imposed.

FB looking at IPO in early 2012

Facebook is preparing to file for an initial public offering as early as October or November that could value the popular social networking site at more than $100 billion, financial news channel CNBC reported yesterday.

Goldman Sachs is leading the chase to manage the lucrative offering, which could come in the first quarter of 2012, CNBC said.

With more than 500 million users, Facebook is the world's most popular Internet social network and one of the most hotly anticipated initial public offerings on Wall Street.

Facebook, whose chief operating officer last month told Reuters that an IPO was "inevitable," declined to comment on the latest report about its timing for an offering.

Anticipation about Facebook's future plans comes at a time of heightened investor appetite for shares of fast-growing social-networking companies. REUTERS

Welcome to Planet Facebook

Facebook's conquest of the globe is still ongoing But map creator says 'big obstacles remain' for site

The new edition of the "World Map of Social Networks," created twice a year by Italian-based digital management expert Vincenzo Cosenza, was unveiled yesterday.

"The Facebook empire is growing bigger and bigger, because it's giving people the power to share and make the world more open and connected," Cosenza told Metro. "However, there are some big obstacles on the way for Facebook to conquer the whole world, [since] China, Japan and Russia are using their own social networks."

Facebook has become the largest social network in 119 countries among those 134 countries analyzed, based on traffic data from Alexa & Google Trends for websites.

700M
So far, Facebook has about 700 million users around the world.

Facebook has even been crowned as the dominant social network in countries like Syria and Iran, despite the struggles against government censorship.

While numbers joining Facebook are slowing in the U.S., those subscribing to the site are on the rise in non-Western nations.

Metro goes to the 2011 Tony Awards

- Metro was at the Tony Awards, asking the nominees — and the winners — about their first performance
- Only one of them didn't shake well enough beforehand

John Larroquette
Winner for best actor for "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying"
"I was a senior in high school. I only did one play, called 'Ask Any Girl.' I didn't act again until I moved to Los Angeles when I was 27. I was a DJ in the '60s in New Orleans for a long time in underground radio. I acted on radio a bit. I remember the adrenaline and the fix you get from an audience laughing at something you say."

John Benjamin Hickey
Winner for best actor in a featured role for "The Normal Heart"
"I was Tom Sawyer in the eighth grade in Plano, Texas, and I was so nervous that I went to pee right before I went onstage. And you know that thing; no matter how you shake and dance, the last drop is in your pants? I had peed all over my overalls! And it's not like I could untuck my shirt. That was terrifying. It was all downhill after that. I can't believe that I just told that story. I was beside myself."

– With additional reporting by Jeryl Brunner

Christie Brinkley
Presenter

"'Annie Get Your Gun.' I was both an Indian and a cowgirl. When the song goes ... 'Can you see the stage coach coming down the hill? Did you ever see a hoedown?' I'd go, 'No, sir!' It was a long time ago."

Kelsey Grammer
Presenter
"When I did 'Othello' with James Earl Jones [in 1982] and played Cassio 30 something years ago, it was the greatest experience of my life. And you know, every time I come back and do theater, I say the same thing – it's the greatest experience of my life."

Mark Rylance
Winner for best actor for "Jerusalem"
"It was a musical in Milwaukee called 'The Me Nobody Knows.' I sang a song; on the drive home I remember my parents named everyone else in the cast but me. Years later they admitted I was terrible in it and they didn't know what to say."

Josh Gad
Nominated for best actor in a musical for "The Book of Mormon"
"At my Jewish day school, I played 'The Simcha Machine.' It's very embarrassing. It's a Jewish thing. That's all I remember about it. I stole the show, I'll tell you right now. I was 5 years old. It was the best performance ever."

Sutton Foster
Winner for best actress in a leading role for "Anything Goes"
"When I was 10 I did my first musical, which was 'Annie.' That's where the bug bit. Anybody who wanted to hear me sing 'Tomorrow,' I was at the ready. After that, it was all downhill — or uphill."

Talking points

Biel takes on the Farrell

Jessica Biel's dating life has been the subject of much speculation since she split from Justin Timberlake, and now she's rumored to be getting close to her "Total Recall" co-star, Colin Farrell, according to Hollyscoop. "Jessica loves Colin's accent and personality," a source says. "She's completely over Justin, she's having fun being single and thinks Colin is a blast."

Get that baby out!

Jessica Alba is ready to welcome her second child — but not nearly as ready as her daughter, Honor, is to be a big sister. "Honor loves to sit on my lap," Alba says, according to Hollyscoop. "She says, 'Is the baby still in there Mom?' I'm like, 'Yeah, it's still in there.' And she goes, 'Can't you take it out now? I want to sit on your lap.' I keep telling her that baby is not ready to come out yet."

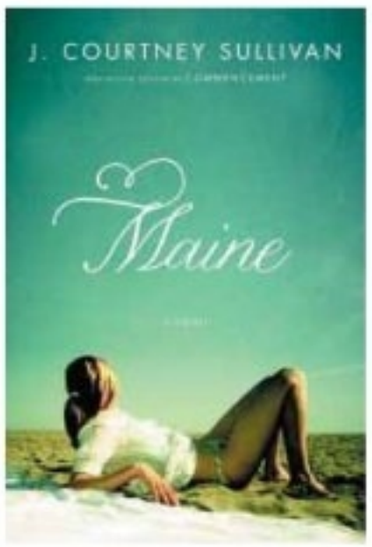
J. Courtney Sullivan: Mindreader

J. Courtney Sullivan's sophomore novel stays true to the form of her first ◐ This time, a cottage in Maine brings four women together for one rocky summer

J. Courtney Sullivan knows how to get into a lady's head. In her debut novel, 2009's "Commencement," she told the story of four Smith College grads from each woman's perspective. With her latest book, she reveals what's inside the minds of four women within one dysfunctional Irish Catholic family in "Maine."

"Every time I start a new [book], I think 'OK, I'm not going to do that again' and then I seem to just fall back into it," Sullivan says of her four-narrator format. "I think it's fascinating to see how people perceive themselves versus how they perceive one another and what they think people think about them versus what they actually do. The best way to capture that, for me, is to get inside every single one of their heads."

This time around, Sullivan creates a rich portrait of three generations of women, the Kellehers, who congregate each summer at their beach house in Cape Neddick, Maine.



"It's fascinating to see how people perceive themselves versus how they perceive one another and what they think people think about them versus what they actually do." SULLIVAN

Old grudges are rife among the grandmother, daughter, sister-in-law and granddaughter, who collide one particularly dramatic summer.

"I was thinking about generations within one family and how women's lives change and how that could be represented by having the place be so constant and having the people moving through the place representing change," Sullivan explains. "Especially in a family like the Kellehers, who have so much guilt and resentment and so many secrets built up against one another, it's kind of interesting to see."

heidi.patalano@metro.us

In "Maine," each of the four main characters struggles and clashes with one another over their Catholic upbringing — something that Sullivan herself is familiar with.

▶ "Catholicism is a very powerful religion, and people tend to be either fully there or fully lapsed," she says. "Even for those of us who are lapsed, the culture stays with you your whole life. You can't get away from it."

Suffolk University's Graduate Programs in Finance

15 Month Investment. Unlimited Returns.

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY
SAWYER BUSINESS SCHOOL

"Earning my MSF at Suffolk was the smartest and fastest way for me to advance in my career. I now have the skills and confidence to take on new challenges and career opportunities" -

John Walker, MSF '02, Vice President, PNC Bank

The Graduate Programs in Finance at Suffolk University's Sawyer Business School offer a unique opportunity to earn a Master of Science in Finance (MSF) or Financial Services and Banking (MSFSB) in as few as 15 months of part-time study. The program also offers a five course Certificate in Advanced Finance, joint degree programs with our Law School and MBA program, and an accelerated program for attorneys.

The Suffolk MSF delivers in-depth, practical education for the finance professional and provides a solid foundation for those looking to transition into financial service. Students learn the theories that drive financial decision-making and the skills to apply them effectively and efficiently. Suffolk students often take two classes per term, meeting back-to-back one night per week. The program is ideally designed with a cohort structure in mind, giving students ample opportunity to develop professional and personal relationships that last far beyond the length of the program and offer invaluable networking opportunities. This structure also ensures a cohesive and integrated curriculum and enhances students' learning. Suffolk University's location in the heart of downtown Boston means that students hail from many industries—finance, banking, insurance, government—and each brings a unique perspective to the classroom. And, as every finance professional knows, 'time is money', making the 15 month timeframe incredibly valuable.

Across every area of business, the ability to make sound, effective decisions often demands a financial analysis of the issues. The MS in Finance programs offer a challenging and rewarding opportunity to learn the financial theories and practices that drive financial decision-making and the financial markets. Whether your career involves managing the finances of your company or you're looking for a career in investments or corporate finance, the MSF programs will give you the tools you need to meet the goals that you've set.

Qualified applicants may still apply for the upcoming fall term, which begins September 28, 2010.

To find out more about the Graduate Programs in Finance and to explore how Suffolk University can help you reach your career goals, call 617.573.8641, email msf@suffolk.edu or visit www.suffolk.edu/msf. Simmons: Complete your degree at a student-centered, prestigious university

Each year more than 100 students transfer to Simmons College. Why? Because we're committed to honoring the hard work you have already put into your education.

As a transfer student, you will build upon previous coursework and life experiences, while working toward a degree from a nationally recognized, private university.

With more than 40 majors and programs, a liberal transfer credit policy (you can transfer up to 80 credits!), on-campus housing, and a variety of financial aid and scholarship opportunities, we see transfer students as an integral part of our community. We strive to make the transition to a new school as seamless as possible, and once here, students are given the resources and personalized advising necessary to graduate in a timely fashion.

Simmons consistently ranks among the nation's top schools in the U.S.News & World Report annual survey and the Princeton Review's Best 373 Colleges. In fact, Forbes recently named Simmons one of the top ten women's colleges in the nation.

What makes our academic program so competitive? Students say it's the impressive and dedicated faculty. Simmons professors are distinguished researchers, published authors, Fulbright scholars, health professionals, and community leaders. The 13:1 student-faculty ratio means that students work closely with faculty who know their names and care about their success.

In conjunction with our rigorous academic programs, Simmons prepares students for lifelong career development. Students fulfill their independent learning requirement (at least eight credits) through internships, fieldwork, and research projects. In doing so, they develop impressive résumés and a network of professional contacts. As a result, over the last three years 90% of Simmons students secured full-time employment or entered graduate school full-time within one year of graduation.

We know that transferring can be a little intimidating, so we encourage you to attend one of our upcoming information sessions. You'll take a tour of our beautiful campus—students say it's their own private oasis in the heart of the city—receive an on-the-spot transfer credit evaluation, learn more about financial aid, and get an insider's scoop on the admission process. Register online at www.simmons.edu/transfer or call 800-345-8468. We look forward to seeing you on campus.

Cambridge College Gets High Marks from Adult Students

Cambridge College

Cambridge College will be nationally known for providing quality, innovative and relevant higher education opportunities through a student-centered and participatory learning model that empowers our students, enriches our community and transforms the future.

-Cambridge College Vision Statement

Between April and May 2010, all degree-seeking, graduate-level Cambridge College students were invited to participate in the Noel-Levitz Adult Student Priorities survey. This national survey was created to measure the unique needs of adult students. It identifies the importance students place on various aspects of campus life, and measures their satisfaction levels. Among the items that Cambridge College students thought were important (and were most satisfied with) were:

- "The quality of instruction I receive in my program is excellent."
- "The content of the courses within my major is valuable."
- "Faculty are available for students....by phone, by e-mail or in-person."
- "Faculty are fair and unbiased in their treatment of individual students."
- "Classes are scheduled at times that are convenient for me."
- "Tuition paid is a worthwhile investment."
- "Adequate financial aid is available for most adult students."

Cambridge College is nationally recognized for breaking down barriers in access to quality education. Students who have overcome great challenges have always been central to the College's mission and enjoy a great deal of mentor support. Additionally, the College has been recognized for serving the African-American and Latino communities in New England, and is committed to providing one of the lowest tuition rates among private universities and independent colleges in Massachusetts.

Cambridge College offers bachelor's degree (B.A. and B.S.) programs; master's degree (M.Ed and M.M.) programs in education, psychology, counseling, and management; and a doctor of education (Ed.D.) program in educational leadership, as well as certificates of advanced graduate studies (C.A.G.S.). Students may transfer up to 90 credits from regionally accredited institutions into undergraduate degree completion programs and 9 or more credits into a master's degree, depending on the program.

Discover Cambridge College for yourself at an information session on THURSDAY, July 14th at 6:00 p.m. at the main campus, 1000 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, between Central Square and Harvard Square on the Red Line. For those further north, the Merrimack Valley campus at 60 Island Street in Lawrence will hold an information session on TUESDAY, July 12th from 4pm-7pm.

It's Not Too Late to Make the Most of Summer

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

In just six weeks this summer, enhance your professional credentials, broaden your career options, satisfy electives for a master's degree, or focus on a topic of interest with one of Boston University's renowned professors.

Boston University Summer Term offers hundreds of undergraduate and graduate courses in more than 45 academic subjects during Summer 2. Our condensed, six-week schedule—which includes daytime, evening, and online courses—allows you to pursue your academic goals along with your usual summer activities. Plus, our open enrollment policy means you don't have to be a Boston University student to experience Summer Term. Just register for the classes you want.

Here are a few highlights of Summer 2:

Professional Development: Whether your field is communication, finance, management, information technology, or science, Summer Term is an ideal time to enhance your professional skills and learn new principles. Also look for business courses for non-business majors.

Personal Enrichment: Engage your mind this summer—or satisfy your creative spirit—with a wide range of topics in art history, English, visual arts, theatre, film, television, and music.

Foreign Languages: Find an extensive selection of courses in Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Ancient Greek, Hausa, Italian, Japanese, Latin, modern Persian, Spanish, Turkish, or Wolof.

The Sound of Poetry: This unique, interactive online course with former U.S. poet laureate Robert Pinsky uses videos and readings from the Favorite Poem Project as a starting point, exploring how the reader's voice creates a unique relationship with poetry.

High School Programs: Explore a range of opportunities for high school students—from programs in math and science, fine arts, and media production, to pre-college programs such as Summer Challenge and Summer Preview.

This year, make the most of your summer—attend Summer Term at Boston University.

Take your career in Higher Education to the next level.

MSPP
Massachusetts School of Professional Psychology

Are you looking to enhance your career in Higher Education Administration? Do you have an interest in developing a career in student services, and in increasing your skills in student counseling and relationship building? Do you need a program with a flexible learning curriculum that appreciates your schedule as a working professional?

The Massachusetts School of Professional Psychology, located in Boston, offers a Master of Arts in Applied Psychology in Higher Education Student Personnel Administration for professionals looking to further their careers. This is a blended program delivered onsite and online for working professionals. The graduate program prepares individuals to become student affairs educators whose special interest is college students and the achievement of their individual, academic, and career goals.

MSPP integrates rigorous academic instruction with field education and professional development assistance. At MSPP, we believe that the best learning environment for future higher education leaders comes from integrating classroom knowledge with hands-on experience.

The MSPP curriculum provides for an understanding of theory, training, and practice of higher education student personnel administration. We emphasize the development of professionals who are committed to the ethical provisions of quality services through the development of multicultural awareness, knowledge and skills.

Frequently, individuals completing graduate study in the specialized area of higher education student personnel administration subsequently assume any one of a variety of important functional roles in colleges or universities. Among these are:

- Vice Presidents for Student Life
- Directors of Housing and/or Residence Life
- Student Union and Student Activities Directors
- Student Counselors
- Athletics Counselors / Administrators
- Career Development Advisors
- Orientation Program Leaders
- Enrollment Management Administrators
- Racial and Ethnic Minority Support Services Coordinators
- Greek-life coordinators
- Detention and Assessment Personnel

If you would like to pursue a leadership career in higher education, or are currently working in higher education and are seeking to increase your credentials and take your career to the next level, please contact us for more information.

A Unique Management Program

Mount Ida College's graduate offering consists of a Master of Science in Management (M.S.M.) degree and a Master of Science in Management for Interior Architecture. Created as an alternative to a traditional Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) curriculum, which typically focuses on general principles of business, the innovative M.S.M. program at Mount Ida allows students to focus on the specific areas of operations and management that are relevant to their career fields. Students leverage their practical experience in the classroom as they develop the knowledge and creative ability to succeed in a competitive marketplace.

Accomplished Faculty, Small Classes

Classes in the M.S.M. program are small and students enjoy close interaction with dedicated faculty members who are leaders in their fields. Most Mount Ida College faculty members in the management program are active business and design practitioners in industry, not-for-profit, and government organizations. Mount Ida faculty members have a history of helping high achieving graduates connect to professional opportunities regionally and nationally.

The Mount Ida College two-year, part-time, 36-credit MSM program offer the following benefits:

- An intimate learning environment with customized attention for each student
- Faculty members who are leaders in their fields
- A broad-based, relevant curriculum
- An interactive, hands-on learning approach that embraces learning by doing
- Convenient schedules including evening, weekend, and hybrid course offerings

No matter which area of the work world you currently specialize in — corporate, not-for-profit, or your own business — if you're ready to assume more responsibility, then the Mount Ida College M.S.M. is bound to make a difference in your life.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

An Exceptional Way to Complete Your Degree

Jay A. Halfond
Dean, Metropolitan College
Boston University

Many Americans who begin their bachelor's degree fail to complete it. In fact, one-sixth of all adults drop out before earning their baccalaureate. This is truly a lost opportunity since, according to the U.S. Census Bureau, those with undergraduate degrees earn twice that of high school graduates in the course of their careers. It also deprives adults of a tangible sense of accomplishment and an important foundation for appreciating the world around them.

Yet returning to the classroom after years away can seem daunting and even stigmatizing. Adults might feel too isolated, too busy, or perhaps even too old to be back in school. The reality, though, is that higher education is forced on many traditional-age students before they can fully appreciate it—and, as adults, they are now far better prepared to plunge back in.

Boston University's Metropolitan College has found a way to actually reward those who have postponed finishing their degree until they are ready. Designed for motivated adults and working professionals, our two-year Accelerated Degree Completion Program brings a world-class education within reach by combining evening and weekend classes on campus with blended and online study formats. To qualify for this rigorous program, students need 64 transferable college credits.

Upon graduation, participants receive a Bachelor of Science degree from Boston University in either Computer Science or Management Studies. Students who graduate with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher gain the additional advantage of automatic admission—with advanced standing—to a BU master's program in Administrative Studies or Computer Science.

Students go through the program as a cohort, attending the majority of their classes together. This opportunity to develop a meaningful sense of camaraderie was an added benefit for Amy Rutkowski (MET'09).

"I'd hear my peers say, Oh, my friends from college . . . ," she recalls. "But I really hadn't had that experience, so the cohort aspect was very appealing. I relocated here not knowing anybody; the cohort, very quickly, provided a group of friends and business networking associates. We definitely developed a bond."

We welcome inquiries from those now ready to complete their undergraduate degree. Please call 617-353-6000 or visit bu.edu/degreecomplete.

Passion Comes To Life at The Cambridge School of Culinary Arts

Listening to Roberta Dowling, director of The Cambridge School of Culinary Arts, you may hear her say "You'll never look at food the same way again." If food is your passion and you want to turn your passion into your career, explore the professional world of food at the Cambridge School of Culinary Arts (CSCA).

Established by Chef Roberta Dowling in 1974, The Cambridge School of Culinary Arts seeks to stimulate the senses as it helps students discover beauty and complexity within the world of food. Students are encouraged to explore all aspects of fine food and its preparation as they learn to produce dishes that demonstrate technical and scientific mastery. The education received at The CSCA provides each student with a lasting legacy of culinary knowledge that reflects common sense, diversity of culinary expression, and above all—the notion that food is a celebration of life.

Four unique program offerings make up the curriculum at The CSCA: the 37-week Professional Chef's and Professional Pastry programs, as well as the 16-week Culinary Certificate and Certificate Pastry programs. All programs place strong emphasis on both modern and classical culinary techniques and are taught by a talented staff of chef instructors from around the world. Pastry classes are highlighted by the addition of instructor and Program Director Delphin Gomes, New England's only French Master Pastry Chef. A flexible day and evening schedule allows students to work full- or part-time while attending, and class size is limited to allow for intimate, hands-on instruction. Applications for January enrollment are now being accepted for all programs.

In addition to culinary training programs, The CSCA offers an extensive recreational program for food enthusiasts. These one-time classes cover a wide range of subject matter and are designed to introduce the amateur chef to the world of specialty cooking. Whether you want to impress your friends and family with a gourmet meal, perfect your pie crust, or discover the secrets of a well-seasoned sauce—there are classes to meet every need.

The CSCA is currently accepting applications for all May 2011 Culinary Certificate and Certificate Pastry Programs. For more detailed information about these and many other program offerings, or to sign up for an Information Session on the evening of Wednesday, April 20th at 6:00pm, please visit www.cambridgeculinary.com or call 617.354.2020.

We're not saying it will be easy, but it will be over before you know it.

Graduate Education - The Ultimate Renewable Resource

Massachusetts Maritime Academy's Graduate and Continuing Education Division offers two unique graduate programs: A Master of Science Degree in Facilities Management and a Master of Science Degree in Emergency Management

Both programs are customized for the working executive and are based on a cohort model where students attend class at the Conference Center at Waltham Woods for 31 half-weekends (Friday night and Saturday), every other weekend over 17 months. The program includes a laptop computer, software, textbooks, case packets, breakfast, lunch and dinner, all coffee breaks and Friday night hotel accommodations at the Doubletree Guest Suites in Waltham, Ma.

The mission of the MMA MS programs is to give graduate students the knowledge and skills necessary to become creative problem solvers and in doing so provide current and prospective facility managers and emergency responders with the personal, interpersonal, and group skills necessary to craft and implement creative ideas and thus reduce the gap between good ideas and accepted practices.

The programs forge home the idea that good ideas are not enough (everybody has one) and that implementation is what separates excellence in management and leadership from mediocrity.

If you would like to apply for entrance into next year's program beginning in the Fall 2011 send:

1. A short (300 word max) statement of your professional objectives and how the program will help you meet them
2. Your resume.
3. Your undergraduate transcript to jmcdonald@maritime.edu

ACT Center

Bunker Hill Community College
imagine the possibilities

Bunker Hill Community College is one of a number of post-secondary institutions in the country to be designed as an ACT Center, making it a true one-stop source for the very best computer-based assessments and training programs available nationwide.

This nationwide network uses the latest technologies to deliver a broad range of training and testing services for individuals, businesses and other organizations.

The ACT Center has a full range of training services to meet the needs of everyone, from individuals looking to enter the work force to companies needing an efficient way to upgrade the skills of their employees, to incumbent workers trying to improve their skills and move ahead.

At the ACT Center, you can upgrade your skills by taking online training courses based on your schedule and at your own pace. This is a unique opportunity for workers to become lifelong learners, continuously trained to be successful in the evolving global job market. More than 1,000 top-quality computer-based training courses are available in the following areas:

- Adult literacy
- Employability skills
- Computers/IT
- Leadership/ manage ment
- Professional/ personal development
- Industrial safety/ technical skills

The ACT Center's computerized WorkKeys assessments allow convenient evaluation of job applicant skills, and more than 40 IT certifications. Located in Room E222 on the Charlestown campus, the center is just steps away from the Community College stop on the MBTA's Orange Line.

Obama: Secret capitalist

RE: "DOWN WITH CHAIRMAN O": Will someone explain what it is that Obama is supposed to have done that makes him a socialist commie? He saved the banking and auto industries for capitalism and helped pass national health care, a great boon for the insurance industry. As to the 47 percent who don't pay taxes, where is our shame that 47 percent of us don't earn enough money to support themselves or their families in order to pay up? For them, the economic picture is getting worse as the rich get richer — frequently by tax breaks, tax subsidies, tax loopholes, tax-free offshore accounts, tax lobbyists and expensive tax attorneys. WALLIS COOPER, VIA E-MAIL

Black, white: Same thing

The terms "racist," "racial" profiling and "race" relations need to be eliminated from the American lexicon permanently. The word itself has a damaging effect on rationality and exemplifies the legacy of ignorance. We are all one race! To justify subjugation, those in power dehumanized Africans and exalted themselves by insinuating they were somehow different; the "white" race. That's like a salmon telling a tuna he's not a fish! Every human being on earth is 99.5 percent genetically alike. It's time for language to represent that fact. RICH BRITTLE SR., VIA E-MAIL

Everyone's doing it, guys

Weiner in treatment? For what?! He needs to be in marital counseling with his wife or be seeing a sex therapist with her. He's guilty of not seeing his wife as a sexual person, just the mother of his child. What I want to know is why he didn't send these photos to his wife as a form of foreplay or just for fun; c'mon, who among us hasn't sent naughty picture-texts of aroused body parts to our significant others? MICHAEL WHITE, VIA E-MAIL

Civilian army is past due

It disgusts me that you have not chastised the Republican Congress for not allowing President Obama to create the civilian army which he said was necessary to the security needs of this country! After all, how long can the United States continue to be lucky and survive without this vital civilian force? JOSEPH DUPONT, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. You aren't apt to have a better day to tackle an arduous task that you've been putting off doing. Once you take it on, you're likely to find it wasn't as tough as you had anticipated.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Seek a convivial environment to work out a serious, unresolved concern you have with another. You'll have a lot of luck getting to the bottom of things.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. This is a good day to get out and hunt for that perfect, hard-to-find item you've been looking for. You still might have to search a bit, but there is an excellent chance you'll hit pay dirt.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Set your sights on reaching or achieving something that is a bit tough to get. The type of resolve and determination you have should be exactly what you need to acquire your goal.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Commercial arrangements look to be quite promising for you once again, if you do business with those firms or people you found to be reasonable and satisfactory in the past.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Someone is apt to do a favor for you that you might not fully appreciate right now, but as time passes you'll begin to understand what this person did.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. You'll reach your objective without much trouble if you keep it to yourself while striving in a dedicated manner. Only when your project is safely underway should you announce it.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Don't hesitate to take on an additional responsibility thrust on you that has been totally mishandled by another. You won't resent the imposition.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. That strong determination you have will give you a better than average chance of recovering something borrowed long ago but never returned.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Some sage advice that comes from a good pal might be a bitter pill to swallow upon first hearing, but when you put it into action, you'll see its value.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Even if they're long overdue, corrective measures are being taken to compensate you for something nice you did quite a while ago. It hasn't been forgotten.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Someone who in the past has been a bit dubious about you might find plenty of reasons to think otherwise. This person will admire what he or she sees, and will extend the hand of friendship. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

martha's vineyard

Martha's value

The Vineyard is not as pricey as you may have suspected

All of the images that come to mind when considering Martha's Vineyard point toward a prohibitively expensive experience. There are pretty people in preppy clothes to consider, presidential vacations and celebrity residents. Even the name of the Massachusetts island seems designed to be said with an upper-crust underbite. But a few days on the Vineyard is actually quite affordable.

PAT HEALY
pat.healy@metro.us

MARTY JOHNSON

Staying there

Vineyard Haven is probably the most relaxing area to stay. What sets this area apart is that it's a hub, but it isn't party central. We suggest you stay at the Mansion House (www.mvmansionhouse.com). The roof-deck view of the harbor will take your breath away, and the complimentary lemonade will help you get it back. Plus, if you stay before July, rooms start at $179.

Getting around

There's all sorts of rentable transportation on the islands, and lots of places to get it, but we suggest bicycles. The Vineyard bike trails ensure safe pedaling and the island is small enough that if you've figured out where you want to go, you can get there easily on two wheels. The biggest must-see is the village of gingerbread cottages in Oak Bluffs. We also recommend taking the $6 ferry to Chappaquiddick. An island off the island, the place is beautifully sparse and tranquil, and residents would rather forget the Ted Kennedy incident.

Eating

You need to eat breakfast at the tasty and kitschy Artcliff Diner (39 Beach Road, Vineyard Haven). For dinner, we suggest the tucked away understated charm of the Oak Bluffs-based Sidecar (www.sidecarcafeandbar.com).

Going out

Oak Bluffs is the place to party. It caters to every taste from college-type bar (any of the Bob Marley-blasting places on the water) to indie rock (local bands play original music at Dive Bar, below the Lampost, www.lampostmv.com).

B'S FORCE GAME 7

Luongo can't make many 'easy saves' in first-period shelling ◗ Bruins offense flies high again at Garden ◗ Thomas simply solid ◗ Game 7 set for tomorrow

Maybe next time, Roberto Luongo will think before he opens his mouth.

The Canucks goalie spent his weekend talking trash. He spent last night — well, 8:35 of it — giving away Vancouver's advantage in the Stanley Cup finals.

The Bruins chased Luongo with three quick goals in the first period, then coasted to a 5-2 victory in Game 6 at the Garden.

The Boston win forces a winner-take-all Game 7 tomorrow night in Vancouver (8 p.m., NBC, 98.5 FM).

The Canucks held their own for 5:30 last night, but Brad Marchand's ninth goal of the postseason — from Mark Recchi and Dennis Seidenberg — opened the floodgates. Milan Lucic and Andrew Ference soon found the net, and Luongo found a seat on the bench.

Michael Ryder capped the first-period scoring frenzy by beating former Boston College standout Cory Schneider.

Meanwhile, the B's looked dominant on face-offs and penalty kills, while Tim Thomas was simply solid in net. He calmly made 11 saves in the first period as Boston built its unbeatable lead.

Good, bad at home for B's this season

Boston played its last home game of 2010-11 last night ◗ Strong finish at the Garden much better than their start ◗ Won just 16 of their first 33

In a historic sense, the task facing the Bruins last night in Game 6 of the Stanley Cup finals was a difficult one. Since the best-of-seven format was introduced in 1939, only 10 of 25 teams trailing the series 3-2 won Game 6 at home.

And of those fortunate 10, only three went on to win the Cup in Game 7.

But recent home history was on Boston's side going into last night's action. The Bruins entered Game 6 having won nine of their last 10 postseason games at the Garden, and 15 of their last 20 there overall.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ The B's, who finished their 2010-11 home schedule last night, rarely lacked for home-ice advantage.

"We definitely want to end it off on a good note," Milan Lucic said.

The fast and furious finish at home was a stark contrast from the first 33 home games this season, when the Bruins tallied just 16 victories. That was coming off a 2009-10 season when they went 18-17-6 at home before dropping a key pair to Philadelphia in the playoffs.

"We've had some tough grinds in here," Bruins coach Claude Julien said. "This year, I remember right near the end of the year, we were pleased with our road record, but we talked about establishing ourselves as a better home team. ... We started doing that the regular home season and we've carried that into the playoffs."

The Mavericks went 3-0 in the Finals with Jose Juan Barea in the starting lineup. Coach Rick Carlisle put him next to Jason Kidd starting in Game 4; the Dallas offense instantly started clicking.

Barea second Husky to earn a ring

The Dallas Mavericks' 105-95 win over the Miami Heat in Game 6 of the NBA Finals on Sunday was celebrated locally for reasons deeper than LeBron James' failure.

Dallas guard Jose Juan Barea became just the second former Northeastern player to win an NBA title. Rick Weitzman was the first; he took the 1968 crown with the Celtics.

Barea started the decisive game, scoring 15 points on 7-for-12 shooting from the field. He grabbed three rebounds and dished for five assists in the win. METRO

Top 25? Celtics' pick has an up-and-down history

Boston's selection in next week's draft doesn't exactly have an illustrious record Let's hope they get a Shannon Brown, not a Morris Almond Draft set for 7 p.m. June 23 (ESPN)

"With the 25th pick in the 2011 NBA draft, the Boston Celtics select ..."

The truth is, nobody knows for sure who the C's are really targeting, or if those players will be available when they pick 25th next week.

What we can look at are players taken 25th in prior drafts. The names won't knock your socks off.

2010: Dominique Jones, Memphis (traded to Dallas). Jones played limited minutes in 18 games before going down with a stress fracture in his right foot in February.

2009: Rodrigue Beaubois, Oklahoma City (traded to Dallas). After sitting until February with a foot injury, Beaubois showed promise for the remainder of this season. But like Jones, he wasn't needed come the playoffs.

2008: Nicolas Batum, Houston (traded to Portland). Batum has become a serviceable starter for the Blazers, averaging 12.4 points and 4.5 rebounds.

2007: Morris Almond, Utah. If you've seen him play lately, then we hope you enjoyed your trip to Italy. He's already out of the league.

2006: Shannon Brown, Cleveland. The high-flyer out of Michigan State has found a niche coming off the Lakers bench. He hasn't missed a game (or dunk opportunity, probably) in the last two seasons, averaging better than 8 ppg.
